SPEEDING WESTWARD

Are Mr. and Mrs. J. Norvell Shrader.

The wedding of Miss Martha Duke and Mr. J. Norvell Shrader, at the Methodist church Wednesday evening, was the most brilliant church wedding of the year. Five hundred invitations were issued and the church was filled to its entire capacity. The church was elaborately decorated with potted plants, evergreens and white and yellow chrysanthemums. A wedding bell was suspended in front of the stand, under which the bridal couple stood.

The musical program was directed by Miss Follansby as organist.

Miss Mary Jessie Brownell sang and Miss Lillian Gary and Dr. R. F. McDaniel rendered solos with violin and flute. The musical program comprised the following numbers:

Past and Future.....De Koven
All For You.....De Hardelot
I Love You Dear.....Luders
Wedding March.....Wagner
Chanson.....Mendelssohn
Wedding March.....Mendelssohn

The bridal party entered as follows: Messrs. Hugh West and Aubrey Tuggles and Jas. Watson and Will Waller, ushers.

Mr. Charlie Duke with Miss Birdie Stowe; Mr. Duke Pettit with Miss Mary Phillips; Mr. Lionel Duke with Miss Florence Duncan; Mr. Jesse Burrus with Miss Annie Stowe; Mrs. P. E. West, the bride's sister, matron of honor; Cecil Layne, flower girl, and last the bride and groom.

The bride wore ivory crepe radium silk over taffeta, with real lace and pearl band trimmings. The groom was attired in the conventional black.

The ceremony was said by Rev. T. F. Taliaferro, of Frankfort, Ky., the groom's uncle. After the wedding the bridal party repaired to Dr. West's, where Mr. and Mrs. Schrader prepared for their long journey and left for California at 10:20. They were accompanied to the depot by the gay wedding party, who threw rice and old shoes and jollied them in other ways as they boarded the train. They will reach Los Angeles Sunday.

STOLE HER PURSE.

Miss Maude Brown is Victim of a Theft.

Thursday evening at 5:40 o'clock as Miss Maude Brown, of the Home Telephone Co., was sitting at a desk in the manager's office, she saw a thief raise the window on 11th street, across the room from her, and reach in his hand far enough to grab her handbag from the table in front of the window. She called to him, but he quickly disappeared in the darkness. An officer was summoned, but he failed to catch the thief. W. H. Nixon's bloodhounds could not be used, as Mr. Nixon was out of town.

The handbag was one used by Miss Brown as collector for the company. Fortunately she had removed the day's collection and the thief got only $4 or $5 of her own money, some valuable papers, keys and other articles. The robbery occurred not far from where a negro boy snatched another young lady's handbag from her hand a few weeks ago.

The three councilmen who retire are Messrs. L. W. Whitlow, John B. Galbreath and A. B. Benton, all of whom declined to stand for re-election.

NOTHING

DEFINITE.

Can Yet Be Said as to Future of South Kentucky College.

HENDERSON COMMITTEE

Firm in Determination to Get School if We Don't Want It.

The joint meeting of the trustees of South Kentucky College and the committee from Henderson, held last Wednesday afternoon, was not fruitful of results.

The situation is really unchanged. Though Henderson is exceedingly anxious to secure the institution, she does not propose to do anything that is not strictly fair and honorable in the premises. We are sufficiently advised to say that Henderson would not make the feeblest effort to have an institution that has been fostered and aided for nearly half a century by our people pull up stakes and pitch its tent elsewhere. But, if the aid now needed is not furnished and Hopkinsville will not give the trustees what they want, then the people of Henderson are prepared to give what the trustees may ask for.

When our people fail to respond to the call, then Henderson, with her characteristic zeal, proposes to reach out and pluck the plum, even though the effort may be expensive.

This is about the true situation so far as we have been advised. Henderson does not intend to be unneighborly and will patiently wait to give us a chance, and then any proposition coming from the trustees will be promptly acted on.

As we have before said, the trustees of the college are friends to our own city, and if it be possible to rebuild here, but on a much larger scale, then the school stays here. If we are to lose the college, then Henderson will get it, and we know of no place we had rather see it go than to our beautiful and progressive neighbor, Henderson.

OPERATION PERFORMED

Upon Mrs. Thompson, Who is Quite Ill.

The condition of Mrs. John D. Thompson was slightly improved yesterday. An operation was performed one day this week and it is believed now by the physicians that if Mrs. Thompson can survive to recover from effects of the operation that she will soon be entirely well again. Before her marriage a few years ago to Mr. Thompson, Mrs. Thompson was Miss Eunice Calhoun. She is one of the most lovable young women in the city and her host of friends hope she will soon be restored to perfect health again. Mrs. Thompson has been a great sufferer for several months.

Located Here.

Mr. H. S. Glessner, of Meyersdale, Pa., has leased the Dr. W. M. Hill residence on South Main street and taken up his residence here.

Mr. Glessner has received his household effects and his family has already arrived. Dr. Hill has reserved one room, but will probably go to Pensacola, Florida, with Mrs. Hill after Christmas to spend the remainder of the winter with Dr. and Mrs. Yates. Mrs. Yates and children left yesterday for Pensacola.
